Thinking about it

1. If you were to take photos today, what recent events would you like to immortalise to be looked at in 20 years' time?
2. What are you very passionate about, that would make you attend a street protest?
3. Think about the patients or relatives who come to hospital when they are unwell. What would be striking to them of what they see in the Emergency Department or in the hospital? And should they be allowed to take photos of their experience?
